THE SCULLING RACE.

COURTNEY'S BOATS S WED AND MUTILATED.

Hanlan Rows Over the Course and Makes the Five Miles Inside of Thirty-Four Minutes.

MAYFIELD, N. Y., October 16.—It was discovered this morning that the door of the boat house in which Courtney's boats were kept had been forced open late last night, by some unknown person, and both boats sawed nearly in two, in such a manner as to utterly ruin

The one used for the race, known as the "Hop Bitters" boat, was cut twothirds through, twelve feet ten inches from the bow. The working boat was cut entirely through, six feet four inches from the stern. It will take at least ten days to get another boat built. There is a general feeling of distrust as to the part that Courtney took in the matter, many believing that he or his men are at the bottom of it. It is estimated that there are ten thousand people here to witness the expected race There is great excitement over the de struction of Courtney's boats. The boat used by Frenchy Johnson, in practice, is too light for Courtney's use. A postponement for a time, or more likely a permanent one, is possible. The referee and the officers in charge of affairs are in consultation, but no reporters are admitted.

NEW YORK, October 16-10:45 P. M. It is reported that Hanlan rowed over the course at Chautauqua Lake to-day but that Mr. Soule refuses to award

THE WALK OVER. MAYVILLE Oct. 17.—About 4 o'clock yesterday Blake, the referee, accompanied by Hanlan's judge and others, called at Courtney's quarters and sent word to Courtney that he wished him to come out and row in Johnson's or one of Hanlan's boats even at a loss at the race. Courtney absolutely refused, as did his backer and the judge, and Hanlan rowed over the course, starting at 32 strokes which only slightly varied throughout the race course of five miles, being rowed over in 33 minutes and 561 seconds, the fastest time ever made in a five-mile sculling match. At a meeting of the referees, friends and backers of both Courtney and Hanlan, Courtney made statements to the effect that Hanlan's friends had approached him and offered to divide the purse, and also offered a bribe of $10,000 for half of the pool proceeds; but that Courtney refused to listen to their advances. Hanlan's friends denied these statements and said that Courtney's friends had tried to make a bargain so that Courtney could win and the money be divided.

MR. SOULE'S DECLARATION Mayville, N. Y., Oct. 17.-Edward Hanlan, accompanied by John Davis. called on Blaikee, the referee, this morning, and received from him his chester for $6,000, the amount of the prize. Hanlan also paid Blaikie one half his expenses, as per agreement in the articles of the race. Hanlan will go to Rochester to-day and demand his money, It is understood that Soule will contest its payment, he having openly declared that he will spend ten thousand dollars contesting it before it shall be paid, unless rowed for by the

THE MISSISSIPPI IMPROVEMENTS. Majority Report Rendered in the Convention.

QUINCY, Ill., Oct. 17 .- In the Missis sippi river improvement convention vesterday, a majority report was dis-These resolutions set forth that the improvement of the Mississippi and its navigable tributaries is of paramount importance because the great bulk of commerce and wealth is dation of the country one hundred million dollars had been expended on rivers and harbors, not one-tenth of that sum had been spent in the Mississippi valley. They favor a reservoir system on the waters of the upper Mississippi, whereby the surplus of water may be stored until low water and then utilized. Congress should prohibit construction of private wharves and throwing of debris, cinders, etc., which may form sandbars into the Mississippi or its tributaries. Private speculators should not be allowed to profit by improvements made by the Government to the detriment of the public, and the city should not be allowed to use the water power created by the improvement of the rivers for local manufacturing and mechanical purposes. A permanent commission of three repreentatives from each State bordering on the Mississippi river and its navigable tributaries should be appointed by their Governors to promote the improvement of said rivers for commerce so as to best benefit the whole country. The President of the convention should select an executive committee of nine to repare a memorial to Congress setting forth the views of the convention to call future conventions, publish statistics and procure a favorable action by Con-

The minority report reads: The object and purpose of this Convention are to urge upon Congress the commercial necessity of improving the Mississippi and Ohio rivers, so that they may be navigable at a low stage of water. White this Convention recognizes the paramount importance of a speedy and adequate improvement of the main channel of these rivers, we are of the opinion that such result should be accomplished on its merits. which are amply sufficient to commend it to the favorable consideration of all reasonable thinkers. This Convention is opposed to unnecessary expenditures of large sums in the improvement of unimportant tributaries for the purpose of securing an influence for the improvement of the three main rivers. Great as may be the necessity for the improvement of the main channels of the three rivers named, that necessity should not be met by squandering millions of dollars on minor and unimportant streams; therefore be it

NEWS OF THE ELECTIONS RECEIVED. General Grant, on being informed today of the sweeping Republican triumph in Ohio expressed much gratification thereat. He said, with much emphasis, that Ewing as a representative of false and dangerous financial doctrines deserved defeat. For many years the country has been struggling to reach a sound financial basis, and it was inexcusable in any man to take a position which would again debase the currency and impair the public credit. Nothing succeeds like success. This company came to Raleigh unheralded and almost unannounced. They had a strong opposition company, the Templetons, to contend against; but their success has been complete, and they have taken the theater-going public by storm. Commendation is useless. To-night, their farewell night, they propose to furnish the most complete bill of the occasion. For the first time in this city will be produced "Trial by Jury," written by Gilbert and Sullivan, the well-known authors of "Pinafore." This is a sparkling bit of burlesque on the English jury system, and fail to make a striking hit. It must be seen to be appreciated. A BRUTAL MURDER.

EVERY LINK PERFECT IN A CHAIN OF CIRCUMSTANCES.

How the Murderers of Peter Freema Were Discovered---Caught Red-Handed in the Act.

Greenville Express. On the 17th of September a murder was committed in the county of Bertie, near the Roanoke river, and the guilt of the murderer and his identity are so clearly established by a chain of circumstances, that it furnishes an illustration of the statement, sometimes made, that circumstantial testimony is sometimes more convincing than positive evidence of guilt. The circumstances were these: On the evening of the day mentioned, just before dark, N. H. Sebrell, a white citizen of Hamilton, in Martin county, was in a canoe with four negroes, pad-dling up Roanoke river, on their return from cutting logs on the river. When they reached a landing known when they reached a landing known as Rainbow Bank, three miles below Hamilton, one of the negroes, named Peter Freeman, got out of the canoe to go to his house, which was not far from the landing, and then Sebrell and the others proceeded in the canoe. They had not gone more than a hundred or two yards, when they heard the report of a gun, in the direction Freeman had

and then, from another voice, a remark which was not distinguishable. Soon after, they heard another report from the same place. Sebrell ordered the cance back to Rainbow Bend, and he and the three negro men who were with him, got out and went up the path that led to Freeman's house. They had not gone far before they discovered the dead body of Freeman. They went on to the house and there found a negro, named Robert Outer-bridge, puffing and blowing from fatigue. In the house with him were Freeman's wife and another woman. Sebrell asked Outerbridge what he was tired about. He said he had been tus-seling. Sebrell then called for Outerbridge's gun, and when produced, Outerbridge's gun, and when produced, Outerbridge said it had not been loaded in two months. Sebrell examined the gun and found the muzzle still moist with the exploded powder. He blew into the barrels and

A SMALL PUFF OF SMOKE came out of the tubes. Sebrel then directed the men who were with him to arrest Outerbridge, which they did after some resistance from him. They then examined the house and found a "creep-er" in which pewter had been moulded, In a tree near the spot where Free-man's body was found, a bullet was found and removed. It was and was molded in the old fashion bullet mold. A bullet was afterward taken from the dead body, by Dr. Gurley, of Windsor, and it fitted Outer-bridge's gun. One of the women confessed that she had given Outerbridge some pewter spoons to mold bullets. Sebrell once sold to Outerbridge a pair of old fashioned bullet molds. Outerbridge is now in jail in Wind-or, awaiting trial. Attempted Homicide and Suicide by a Colored Woman from Boston. Goldsboro Messenger. On Thursday evening of last week Maria Creasey, a colored woman from Boston, who was en route for Smithfield, Johnson county, to visit her mother, Angelina Ennis, having with her a daughter of ten or twelve years of age, got off the cars here, and when she saw the train moving off ran toward it, screaming frantically, saying the train will leave me here and these people will kill me, they will burn me slive, and many such wild and frantic ejaculations, which attracted attention to her, and satisfied Mr. John M. Swaringen, chief of police, that she was suffering from mental derangement from some couse, and he had her taken in charge and carried to a public house, kept by respectable colored people. On getting into her room she made an assault upon her child, evidently with int no to kill, using the globe of a kerosene lamp, breaking it over her head. The screams of the child called to the place a numb r of persons who arrived just as the woman, in her fit of insaniy had, with a piece of broken glass, inflicted a terrible wound across bei neck, from which wound she made several efforts to pull wider open with her tingers Fortunately for her Drs. Moore, Robinson and Kirby were close at hand, and reached her just in time to save ber life. H asing the next day that she was a native of John s'on county (the place of our nativity) we called to see her, found her pretrate and feeble, yet apparently rational. We asked her but few questions, seeing that it was not best f r her to talk. Yot she remarked to us that he had been almost frightened to death. We assurred her that she was not at a l in danger; that she was ameng pe pla that would care for her and treas her kindly. Satu day morning Marshal Avera, a

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1879. GEO. C. JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r.

THE Charlotte Bulletin need not worry about the fate of the NEWS; it is not a very easy thing to kill it. We have been warmly attacked for publishing news by those who did not discriminate between news and personal sentiment, but the war is over and we hold the field.

IT must be consoling to those Union generals who have chosen to array themselves on the Democratic platform to be told that for exercising their natural right to ally themselves with this party they have "dimmed the luster of their military record." General Hancock should take heed of this sentiment expressed in the interest of mock Republicanism. Military merit counts for naught unless tinged with Radical-

THE Washington Republican has interviewed Senator Ingalls, of Kansas, and this is the result: In the West he hasn't seen or heard of anything in the line of national politics but the Grant boom. The Presidential field, accord ing to his view stands, "Grant as the first favorite. Blaine the second and Sherman the third, with an unknown field, as the racing men would say. But I repeat that all of them combined, or their friends, from Blaine down to Washburne, or any other man, if they were inclined to so combine, could not defeat his [Grant's] nomination as the situation stands to-day."

ONLY five changes are required to to make the United States Senate a tie in 1881. Thurman will be succeeded by a Republican, but there will be a stand-off with the Democratic Senator who will be chosen to succeed Senator Bruce. The gains which the Republicans hope to make are in the successors to Senators Kernan, of New York, Eaton, of Connecticut, McDonald, of Indiana, Randolph, of New Jersey, and Wallace, of Pennsylvania. If they make gains in all these cases the Senate will be equally divided, and for the Democrats to have a majority Kellogg would have to be ousted. Davis, of Illinois, is not included in the calculation, because it is not known where he stands when the two parties are so closely divided.

It has been reserved for the Washington Republican to discover that a brave Democratic soldier, if he keeps perfectly quiet, may "secure a fair meed of popular respect." A noisy Republican stay-at-home makes a much more popular hero. In commenting on the result of the Ohio election the Republican says:

The result of the election in Ohio furnishes food for reflection to General Ewing and all other Union officers during the war, who have since tried the experiment of transplanting themselves into the Democratic party in the hope of gaining success, honor or renown politically. He had a fair military record, which, if it had been allied to a higher type of principle and modesty, and had been attended by a more moderate personal ambition, would have served to secure for his future a fair meed of popular respect during his na-tural life and left to his friends a grateful memory when he had passed away He has met his just re ward at the bar of public opinion, and has confronted a verdict which it is hoped he will remember with profit to the last hour of his existence. He has dimmed the luster of his military re cord by consorting with and trusting to a party which is none the less hostile to the public welfare now than during the war, but is far less brave in carrying out that hostility to its logical conclu-

GRATIFYING EVENT.

The re-election of Colonel Thomas M. Holt as President of the North Carolina Agricultural Society was not simply a graceful compliment to an eminent gentleman who has long been a foremost representative of the agricultural and mechanical interests of the State, but a just recognition of his faithful service.

Public positions carry honors with them, it is true, and none are more truly honors of the highest character among a people like our own than the officers of the State Agricultural Society, embracing all the varied pursuits of our people; but such positions bear also with them the greatest responsibilities and the most unwearied devotion to duty, in order to discharge the task imposed with fidelity and success, No one except those who have had control and management of a gigantic enterprise like the State Fair as it has now developed, can conceive the difficulties attending the work But success has crowned the efforts of the society; and to the patriotic president who has given his time and means to secure this end, the people of North Carolina cannot be too grateful. The Fair is now the pride of the people; the thousands of bright and smiling faces attest it, and the legislature ought to be liberal in its support hereafter. The mechanics and manufacturers and farmers have had the front rank at this Fair. They are better pleased than we have ever known before. All the future prospects of the Society are lighted with hope, and we tender to Colonel Holt our warmest congratulations upon his re-election, after seven successive terms, while the people everywhere re-echo our words of praise.

"RAIDS OF A HUNGRY HORDE."

The "Bloody Shirt" cry of the Radical press must have lost its strengthcertainly at the present time it fails to appear in every issue of the New York Tribune as was wont, but instead goes up a pitiful howl of Southern bonds repudiated very much against the interest of certain capitalists who, with a full knowledge of the circumstances attending their fraudulent issue, chose to take the risk of purchasing at 34, with a possibility of receiving the face value of 100, thereby classing them as being a more valuable investment than United States securities. But a day came when the grinning pack of swindling, State-wrecking carpet-bag officials had to depart for other fields, and the ability of the impoverished people to pay these unlawful claims had to be considered; the State debts were adjusted and the speculators received 36 and 38 for what they had paid 34. The potatoes you ever saw in your life, call at E. J. Hardin's. They surpass in the Tribune's terrible cyclone of indig- in this market.

nation amounted to nothing more than a gentle zephyr in the mind of the public.

Then the next thing to strike the public eye and "fire the Northern heart," as a natural sequence, must be the amount of money expended on Southern internal improvements, and so the Tribune in its issue of the 11th instant had a lengthy article in relation to the claims of the South on the Treasury, and says it "has caused the record to be completed from official documents to the close of the extra session of this year, and this is the appalling result: $650,000,000 have been appropriated for internal improvements."

Ordinarily such a statement appearing in the columns of that journal would have very little effect, for its canvass of financial matters is loose in the extreme. Assertions are not arguments, and the Tribune had a fair chance to find that out in its statements of the disastrous effects that would ensue if the Bland silver bill was passed. It will be remembered that it undertook to laugh down everybody who favored a bi-metallic standard, and sneered at every argument adduced in support of the same; but Mr. David G. Croly, in his masterly articles that appeared in the Graphic while editor of the same, placed Mr. Reid's flights of fancy on the shelf and labeled them "bosh;" and the gold-broker's organ had to "take water."

As before stated, the Tribune's articles would carry very little weightthe only thing that could possibly mislead the readers being the false impression created by the wording of the flaring head lines. Many people do not care to go through a long, dry statement of political figures, but will take the condensed matter as given out in its headings in lieu thereof.

But this was not sufficient. Fearing, undoubtedly, that a limited circulation and the loose character of the Tribune would not have due effect, it put forth an outside effort, and for the first time in the history of the country, merchants have prostituted their trade circulars by converting them into campaign documents. We have received several specimens: one is from a large iron house, giving trade facts; at the foot is the word "over;" and by referring to the back is the Tribune article, condensed, but with the same headings, and laying much stress on the fact that six hundred and fifty millions of dollars have been appropriated for internal improvements in the South, with a specious statement of the limited revenue received from the Southern States, as compared with those of the North.

It is natural to suppose that internal improvements benefit the country generally as well as locally. There is no necessity of referring to the Erie Canal. This great internal improvement made New York the "Empire State," but it benefits the Western States as well It was built by State aid, it is true; but every State in the Union is not as financially able at the present time as was New York in the early part of the century. There are millions of dollars annually spent on the unsheltered lake ports of New York and Ohio where the benefits of commerce amount to but very little. The amount asked for North Carolina is not a heavy sum, and the items were put in the general appropriation bill on the recommendation of United States engineers. The Mississippi improvements benefit not only the Southern States that border its banks but the Northwestern States as well. And the Mississippi Improvement Convention, now in session at Quincy, in its report truthfully states that the difference is as a hundred to one in the amount of appropriations for Northern rivers when compared with the Mississippi alone.

We have not the room to cite instance after instance similar in result to the above. What does the Tribune want? Does it expect that the South is to be kept at a low figure in the financial scale to suit the wishes of that journal?

A Feeble Attempt.

Tarboro Southerner. It is certainly a feeble and disingenuous attempt to impeach the Demo-cratic character of the Raleigh News, by the many-aliosed correspondent of numerous journals. It will fall stillborn on a public remembering and appreciating the long line of gallant services rendered by that journal. A good Democrat would rather extol than decry the excellencies of our capital dailies. Every communication is written to promote a certain gubernatorial boom and the fact peers prominently forth.

LIVER PILLS FOR THE CURE OF

Tymptoms of a Diseased Liver.

DAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss o' memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, lut cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER

DR. C. McLane's LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Ouinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

SALT RHEUM.

Life a burden from the sufferings caused by this terrible disease. MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER-Gentlemen Please accept my most grateful thanks for the great, very great, comfort I have re-ceived from the se of your CUTICURA. For the past eight or nine years I have been troubled with that dreadful disease, Salt Rheum, For months I would be helpless,—my very life a burden to me.

I have used everything in the shape of medicine, both external and internal, but with no effect. My hands were in a terrible condition My hands were in a terrible condition, the backs of them being all raw, and I thought I would try CUTFUERA.

I tried it, and lotit was as if a miracle had been performed, for I will take my oath that in three applications my hands were as smooth as a new-born babe's.

I presume there are hundreds, if not thousands, who know of my case, among whom there may be some one similarly afflicted, and if so I would earnestly advise him to give CUTICURA a trial.

Yours, very thankfully,

On the hands cured. A greatful letter.

Messrs, Weeks & Potter—Gentlemen:— Having been troubled for many years with the Tetter or Salt Rheum, I spent many a hard-earned doilar I was given a trial of your UTICURA, an I, thank God, my hands re well. I never had anything do me good like that.

You may put this in the paper and welceme, and may it do some other poor sufferer the same good it has done me! I am well known here, having lived here almost fifteen years and kept boarders for a living, and sometimes my heart was sore, thinking I would have to give up altogether with my sore hands, and having a small family to take care of; but oh! thank God, my hands are well, so I again return thanks.

Yeurs respectfully,

LOCAL BRIEFS.

-Little police news yesterday. -Swannanoa is much admired.

Bravo !- that "tasting commit--Henry Clay is a number one horse. -No tobacco sales in the city yesterday. Yesterday was indeed a scorcher for October.

-The Berger family and Sol Smith Russell at Tucker Hall to-night.

-The Raleigh Graded School's dis play of maps and drawings was greatly admired.

-That smutting machine certainly digs potatoes well, as the committee will fully attest.

---The various buildings on the Fair grouds yesterday were thronged all day with spectators. -Mr. William Simpson's pharmaceutical preparations were noticed and attracted scientific attention. -The night dispatches state that John K. Smith has been appointed revenue gauger for this district. —Fairchild's display of flowers and shrubs was exceedingly tastily arranged and made a fine display.

-John F. Hauff, who represents the Stuff pianos, had a nice display, and his instruments were highly compli-

--- The skirmish drill of the Bingham cadets on the Fair Ground Thursday was one of the principal features of the day.

-Look out for the great fox chase at the Fair Grounds to-day. The fox is on the grounds. Admission to-day only twenty-five cents.

-The silk shawl exhibited in Floral Hall attracted great attention. The silk was spun by worms belonging to a North Carolina laly, and the shawl made by herself.

Dr. McKee's two horses, Pill Box and Blue Wing, are greatly admired, and it takes a horse in every sense of the word to "get away" with either of them.

Samuel Rayner, the colored man who waited on the press gang, was certainly polite and made all feel at home, and all the newspaper men will remem-

Mr. Charles S. Lambert, of Richmond, special agent for the Singer Sewing Machine Company, is in the city, looking out for the interests of his firm.

Died.

At the Raleigh National Cemetery, of diphtheria, at 1:30 P. M., on the 17th instant, Adolphus, son of George A. Dichtl, aged four years. Funeral at 11 o'clock this morning. Friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend.

"Don't Know Half Their Value."

"They cured me of Ague, Biliousness and Kidney Complaint, as recommended. I had a half bottle left which I used for my two little girls, who the doctors and neighbors said could not be cured. I would have lost both of them one night if I had not given them Hop Bitters. They did them so much good I continued their use until they were cured. That is why I say you do not know half the value of Hop Bitters, and do not recommend them high enough."-B., Rochester, N. Y. See other column.

Book Notice.

The J. B. Burr Publishing Co., of Hartford, have just issued an interesting volume, "Sunshine and Shadow in New York. The name of the author, the world renowned "Burleigh," is sufficient guarantee of the litterary merits of the work. It is truly an able expose of life in the great city; from the millionaire in his palace to the most impecunious wretch in his squalid under-ground den; from the ablest divine to the vilest sinner; gilt-edged vice and loathsome sin; the sharpers who play upon the credulity of honest people and the detective who brings them up in turn, and the "bulls" and "bears," of Wall street are not left out. No phase of city life is omitted. It containes more than eight hundred pages, and certainly presents the lights and shades of New York in a graphic and attractive manner. Representative men are are selected from all classes of society, thereby making the exhibit character istic and full.

of Shokor Machine Works, Richmond, Virginia, have two magnificent steam agricultural engines on exhibition at the Fair grounds. This firm is too well known throughout the South to require praise at our hands. Their engines are extensively used all over North Carolina, and give entire satisfaction. They always bear off premiums at the State Fairs in the South. Their patent spark arrester is a great improvement, and where used, from the safety given from fire, insurance companies carry the risk at greatly reduced rates.
